

GREAT WORK OF
THE ART CLUBThis Year's Exhibit Is to Begin May 18th and Will Last Two Weeks.

SOME OF THE PAST TRIUMPHS OF CLUB

It Has Grown Steadily Since Its Formation in 1895, and the Exhibit This Month Bids Fair to Eclipse Any of Its Previous Achievements—The Officers and Active Members.

The first meeting which brought together the nucleus of what is now the Richmond Art Club was held November 20, 1895, in the home of Mrs. George Ben Johnston, No. 407 East Grace Street. At this meeting Mr. Robert A. Lancaster, Jr., was elected president, with Mr. William C. Noland vice-president, Miss Edith Beveridge secretary, and Mrs. Malvern C. Patterson as treasurer. On October 28, 1898, Mr. Lancaster, the highly esteemed president of the club, resigned and was succeeded by Mr. E. V. Valentine, with Mr. John Rutherford as vice-president. In 1899 Mr. Valentine was succeeded in turn by Mr. F. P. Johnson, and within the past six months Major James H. Doolley has been elected to the club presidency, with Mr. Johnson as vice-president. Much of the success which the club has achieved has been largely due to the energy and ability of its presidents, who have furnished inspiration to club members by their example in leading the way to greater effort and to the establishment of higher standards.

FILLED A NEED.
From the very first the Art Club, as an organization, has filled a long-felt need in Richmond, by the opening of a social and professional center, where all art work could be intelligently criticized and instruction and help could be afforded to young, struggling and ambitious art workers.

The first club-rooms, on the third floor above the Rosemary Library, at the corner of Fourth and Franklin Streets, while modest, were tastefully and comfortably furnished and were occupied by the club for a number of years, until, by the generosity of Mr. Peter Mayo, a removal and installation in the present studio, at the corner of Grace and Madison Streets, was made practicable.

The first annual art exhibit was held May 11-16, 1896, less than six months after the club formation, with great success.

One hundred and twenty-five subjects were shown, the merits of which surprised even the friends of the club. At this exhibit the prize for cover design was given to Miss Annie Williams. The second exhibit took place May 17th to 23d, in the studio, at No. 319 East Franklin Street. The rooms were handsomely decorated with flowers, and in the exhibit every department of art was shown, the improvement during the year being marked indeed. This year the prize for poster cover design was won by Miss Eloise Bruce.

The third exhibit, at No. 319 East Franklin Street, was marked, because Mr. John V. Brodnax was the successful competitor for the cover design, which heretofore had gone to ladies. Another feature of this exhibit was that it attracted attention, not only at home, but abroad. Up to this time none but work of members had been hung, but the pressure now became so great that the doors had to be thrown wide to the public, and in the work of professionals from all parts of the country.

The fourth and fifth exhibits, taking place in April, 1899, at the Temple, drew many visitors, local and otherwise, and made great strides in the continuance of progress and success.

THE SIXTH EXHIBIT.
The next year, the Jefferson having been destroyed by fire, the sixth exhibit was given in the Museum at Temple, beginning April 24. At this opening, which far surpassed previous ones in scope, about five hundred subjects were displayed. It was especially noted for the number of artists and amateurs, and from noted artists in Boston, Philadelphia and New York.

Last year, through the courtesy of Mrs. E. L. Bemis, the art exhibit took place in No. 12 East Franklin Street, beginning Monday, May 12th, and continuing during the week. It was indeed a triumph in the line of going forward, for noted artists from all over the United States contributed to it. Among them were Howard Pyle, the famous black and white illustrator; A. W. Hahner, of Boston, who sent his splendid painting, "The Coming Squall"; R. A. Joseph, an eminent miniature and landscape; James H. Moser, of Washington, represented by a large canvas, "Sunrise at Virginia Beach," and by water color sketches painted in the Virginia mountains. Besides these and a host of others, there were pupils' collections from the schools in Philadelphia, Chicago and New York. A number of valuable paintings were sold, and great enthusiasm was awakened among the art lovers in Richmond.

Miss Annie S. Fletcher, the present class director at the Richmond Art Club, secured while in New York recently promises and pledges from professional artists and pupils, which will render the exhibit of this year, beginning May 18th and lasting two weeks, still the finest yet held.

PRESENT MEMBERS.

The place of the exhibit will be No. 12 West Main Street. Mr. A. B. Jones will have charge of the catalogue. The officers of the club are Major James H. Doolley, the president; Mr. B. F. Johnson, the vice-president; Mrs. B. Lorraine, the secretary and treasurer; and Miss A. S. Fletcher, class director.

Among the interested and active club members are Miss Bell Perkins, Miss Laura Bacon, Miss Belle G. Jones, Miss Katherine McIntire, Miss Julia Woolbridge, Miss Bessie Hammond, Miss Bessie Selden, Miss Kate Meredith, Miss Bessie Tower, Miss Ellen Anderson, Miss Adele Clarke, Miss Nannie Dunlap, Cornelia Williamson, Miss Elizabeth Pat-

TRICK DOG
WENT CRAZYCreated Consternation Among Hospital Nurses.

RESENTED SURGERY ACT

Bit Owner, Put Surgeons to Rout, and Gave Policeman a Chase of Ten Minutes Before Bullets Ended
Its Mad Career.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PHILADELPHIA, PA., May 9.—Anxiety to have the kink in the brain of a trick dog cured by a surgical operation ended disastrously in the Pennsylvania Hospital yesterday where the animal took a fit, put to rout two surgeons and three nurses, bit its owner and a policeman and gave a policeman a chase of a quarter of a mile, ending around a telegraph pole, before the ailing brute was killed.

The dog, a fox terrier, belonged to Thomas Bernard, of No. 335 Pine Street. There was no end to the tricks the knowing animal could do and when a few days ago it began to take fits Bernard concluded that it was time to have it operated on. He carried the dog to the hospital. When the surgeons began to make an examination of the subject the dog took a fit. With a formidable snort it made a dive toward several inquisitive nurses standing near. They disappeared like magic, screaming the while, when it turned toward the physicians.

Excitement ran high as the dog ran out the open door and began to make a detour of the yard, biting and snapping at rain spouts and shrubbery. Bernard gave chase, cornered his dog and picked it up. He dropped it quickly when the brute sank its fangs deep in the flesh of the arm.

Rushing out of the big gate on Eighth Street, the animal was apparently attacked with another fit. Leaping toward John Bennie, aged forty-three, of Third and Pine Streets, it caught him by the calf of the leg and held on for ten yards while Bennie ran down the street. Finally he shook the brute off.

Policeman Fisher came up on a run. The dog made a dash for him. He made a long sweep at it with his baton, missed and almost fell on his back. Drawing his pistol he chased the dog around the telegraph pole ten minutes before he was able to get a good shot at it.

IMPORTANT MATTERS UP

Senate Calendar is Congested on Account of the Long Consideration of Campbell Case—Speaker Ryan and Others for Adjournment.(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
NEW YORK, May 9.—The Church of the Incarnation was the scene today of the marriage of Miss Sophie Griswold Marshall, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Marshall, and a great-granddaughter of Chief Justice Marshall, to Julian Jacquelin Mason. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. William Grosvener, and afterwards there was a reception at No. 231 West Ninety-seventh Street, the home of the bride. Miss Ethel Stetson acted as maid of honor, while the bridesmaids were Miss Winifred Ives, Miss Alice Marshall, of Washington; Miss Constance Lee, of Baltimore; Miss Emily White, and Miss Fannie Farley. Willis Browning was best man, and Buchanan Schley, Clement S. Henry, Arthur S. Wiley, Walton Marshall, Dr. George B. Lee, Frank Guest and William Thornton Mason were the ushers.

One of the most interesting questions which is now before the General Assembly is whether the body will really complete its work and adjourn until fall on Friday next, according to joint action already taken on motion of Mr. Cabell, of Danville, or whether the session will be prolonged beyond that time.

And it is really a question, for upon it there are many conflicting views. Speaker Ryan, of the House, is one of those who believe there will be prompt adjournment next Friday, but there are many others in both branches who take the opposite view.

In discussing the matter last night, Mr. Ryan said: "I see no good reason why we cannot get away promptly. The people expect us to keep our promise and certainly so far as the House is concerned, our work is really up and the things yet undone may very well go over until the fall session."

"We may get away," said a senator, "but we will not have completed our work. There are a number of committees yet to report and important measures are pending on our calendar. The Campbell case has been a great drawback to our work and as a result our calendar is in a most congested condition."

But it is evident that a majority of both bodies are anxious to get away and it would not be surprising should they decide to work night and day this week in order to do so.

ARE CLEARING THE WAY.
A large number of measures offered recently have been reported back from committees with the recommendation that they go over until the fall session. There are quite a large number of these bills and some of them are of great importance. Among these is the Torrens system bill, which proposes to change the method of registering land in the State. Another which has not been actually reported in this manner, but which will likely go over, is that to create a bureau of insurance. This bill is on the House calendar, but will hardly pass. The whole upshot of the matter will probably be that the session will be prolonged for a short time, after Friday, but the probable extension will likely be only for a short while, and it will be devoted exclusively to the disposition of such

LIED LIKE GENTLEMEN
AND WENT TO JAIL(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
BERLIN, May 9.—Baron von Loew, a lieutenant in the Fifth Thiers, was sentenced to eighteen months' imprisonment yesterday at Düsseldorf for having "lied like a gentleman" in slander proceedings involving the reputation of Frau Eck, wife of a distinguished engineer.

The Baron and Frau Eck swore in court that they never had improper relations. She drank poison at the moment of her arrest for perjury, and died from its effect.

C. J. CAMPBELL
LOSES THE FIGHTSenate Concurs in the House Resolution Removing Him from Amherst Bench.

TWENTY-FIVE TO TEN WAS THE VOTE

Resolution Amended in Two Particulars, and Must Go Back to the House for Concurrence—It is Stated that Judge Campbell Will at Once Appeal to the Supreme Court of the State.

For Removing Campbell—Messrs. Anderson, Bruce, Bryant, Byars, Chapman, Clayton, Cogbill, Dinwiddie, Donohoe, Ford, Gold, Gunter, Hays, Harman, Hobbs, Keck, Lester, Lewis, Shackleford, Shands, St. Clair, Tyler, Walker, Wallace, Wickham—25.
Against Removing Campbell—Messrs. Barkdale, Garrett, Harvey, Lyle, Massie, McIlwaine, Moon, Opie, Sale, Watkins—10.

By the vote recorded above the Senate yesterday concurred in the House resolution, adopted a month ago, removing Judge Clarence J. Campbell from the bench of Amherst County Court for conduct unbecoming a judge.

Although the fact that he must leave the bench is a finality, the House of Delegates must again take action before the removal resolution can become effective, for it was amended in two particulars yesterday by the Senate.

The Anderson amendment was adopted, providing that the causes of removal must be embodied in the resolution, and a further amendment offered by Mr. Gold provided, whereby Campbell's assault on Rev. H. Crawford is held to have been committed in the heat of passion, and not to have been premeditated.

There were various attempts made to strike out charges embodied in the resolution, but all failed on recorded votes, though one was only beaten by the barest majority.

It is confidently stated that Judge Campbell will not submit to the decision of the General Assembly, but will take his case to the State Supreme Court as soon as possible, being represented by Major Holmes Conrad, who defended him before the House Committee for Courts of Justice and Messrs. Wise and Watkins and Frank W. Christian, of Richmond.

The decision of the Senate yesterday, though a foregone conclusion, excited much interest, and a number of people thronged the chamber to hear the result.

The removal resolution will be sent back to the House to-morrow, and action is expected Tuesday or Wednesday, whereby Campbell's assault on Rev. H. Crawford is held to have been committed in the heat of passion, and not to have been premeditated.

The Senate convened at 10 A. M. yesterday, the Lieutenant-Governor presiding. The attendance was large, thirty-five senators being in their seats.

The committees were discharged from the consideration of a number of bills, and they were placed on the calendar. Several of these were passed, but they were local bills.

A Senate bill appropriating $50,000 additional for the construction of the cell building at the penitentiary was passed a special and continuing order for 12:15 P. M. Monday next.

The Senate is to provide rooms for the State Corporation Commission was taken up and passed. The bill proposes to secure four rooms in the City Hall for this purpose.

The consideration of local bills taken from the calendar consumed practically all the morning hour.

When the Senate resumed consideration of the House joint resolution removing Judge C. J. Campbell, of Amherst, Mr. Cogbill, of Chesterfield, offered the following resolution:

Resolved by the Senate, That the testimony taken by the investigating committee of the House of Delegates and stenographically reported in the case of C. J. Campbell, Judge of Amherst County Court, printed copies of which have been delivered to each senator, be adopted, and considered by the Senate as evidence in passing upon the joint resolution in relation to the removal of said C. J. Campbell as judge of the County Court of Amherst.

The resolution was adopted by a recorded vote of 23 to 3, and moved to strike out of the list of charges on which the House voted to remove Judge Campbell the charges numbers 2 and 4. Charge No. 2 is that relating to the assault on Dr. H. Crawford and No. 4 that which states that Judge Campbell unlawfully procured the indictment of Beard. In making this motion, Mr. Shackleford briefly stated his position in the matter of the removal of Judge Campbell. He said:

Before casting my vote in this case, I wish to say that I perform one of the most disagreeable duties that my position ever imposed on me—disagreeable for the reason that the machinery which has been used to bring this case before the Legislature was put in motion in order to avenge a personal assault, which in my opinion should have been resisted passively and not become the cause of being prosecuted by personal and political enemies of Judge Campbell.

In the course of the investigation I regret to say reasons have been shown which justify removal as shown in cases Nos. 2 and 4 of the House resolution. Judge Campbell must take the consequences of having his record brought to light, no matter by what means.

The pending question was then on the motion of Mr. Shackleford, of Orange, to strike out the causes for removal as agreed upon by the House of Delegates the second and fourth causes. The pending question was ordered, and the vote taken by yeas and nays with the following result:

Yeas—Messrs. Barkdale, Donohoe, Gar, Northern, Rev. E. E. Northern Leaves Phoebeus for Newport News Church.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
PHOEBUS, VA., May 9.—Rev. E. E. Northern, who has officiated as pastor of the Baptist Church here the past three years, has accepted a call to the Tabernacle Baptist Church, in Newport News, and will soon go to his new charge, which is a larger field than Phoebeus.
